So I lately invested in cryptos as a long term investment, but soon realized that there is massive potential for day trading as well. If someone starts trading with $1,000 and makes 1% profit per trade (which is not even that much in crypto - it happens multiple times a day on most coins, even in the current crash), all someone really needs is 700 trades due to the power of compound interest.

In the U.S., penny stocks are defined as stock shares that trade for $5 each or less. They're generally thinly traded. This means they are traded infrequently and it's difficult to accurately price them. This can also make them difficult to sell. Sometimes unexpected companies can fit broadly into the penny-stock category.
