TradingView is not a broker but rather a charting platform showing you the world wide access to market data under the form of charts. I must say it is one of the best and most seamless charting platform I have ever seen. You can also make an account there and customize the chart to apply your method of analysis.

The Coinbase Card is a debit card backed by Visa. This means you can use your Coinbase Debit Card with any Visa-compatible payment terminal, ATM, and online checkout solution. That said, this is where the fun comes in.

Any movement of funds needs to be confirmed via 2 we-mails and a cellphone code, making it virtually impossible to get hacked. At the same time Coinbase is a US-based company that's insured, making an MTGox situation nearly impossible as well. If you don't mind the government having your information then Coinbase is great.

This API lets brokers build a bridge to connect their backend systems to the TradingView interface, so that broker partners then can be supported on the TradingView Web Platform. The integration is very straightforward. The broker builds a REST Web API on its own servers based on our specification so that it can be connected to TradingView. TradingView provides a sandbox and required technical assistance to get your TradingView Web Platform integration started.

As long as you can avoid scams, lurking Reddit can give a good outlook on general market sentiment. While the fear and greed index was in extreme fear, I saw minimal negative sentiment aside from newcomers getting scammed, and complaints about coinbase and gas fees which I completely understand. But you gotta use this information to your advantage.

Using Coinbase itself is pretty secure (as long as you use something like Authenticator for 2FA), but you dont control your actual funds and Coinbase can freeze them or take them from you. A wallet like Coinbase wallet is nice, but with it being in a phone always connected to the internet, there are risks of malware causing problems.
