Bitcoin, for instance, has a bitcoin network and a set of nodes that communicate with each other randomly. Each node has the authority to verify and validate all Bitcoin transactions and validate every block.

What Is A Full Node? A full node is a program that fully validates transactions and blocks. Almost all full nodes also help the network by accepting transactions and blocks from other full nodes, validating those transactions and blocks, and then relaying them to further full nodes.

While there are other ways to purchase crypto, many people acquire crypto on cryptocurrency exchanges. Upon making a purchase, the cryptocurrency you acquired is automatically stored in your exchange-hosted wallet, which is typically custodial, meaning the exchange has control of your private keys. By holding your keys for you, crypto exchanges give you easier access to your funds via a more familiar username and password configuration, which allows you to trade seamlessly on the exchange.
